1. ABOUT THE SE4A PROJECT

1.1. Background and aims

The COVID-19 pandemic crisis brought important societal, environmental, and economic challenges to the forefront. The arts, cultural, and creative employment sector was significantly impacted, making it even more difficult for young artists to promote their work. Freelancing in the creative sector has become exceptionally challenging due to the pandemic's limitations and measures imposed by authorities. After the catastrophic consequences of the coronavirus, there is a concern that society might increasingly perceive the work of young people in the creative sector as "low-value" occupations. This has highlighted the need for more focus on entrepreneurship skills to help artists promote their products and have contingency plans during crises.

The SE4A project aims to transform artists into creative entrepreneurs by utilizing digital technology and tools. The project will empower young artists to undertake innovative initiatives and enhance their business skills without compromising their creativity and critical thinking. By providing a unified online platform, the project will stimulate and enable young artists to acquire the necessary entrepreneurial competencies, including marketing, financial management, and business collaboration. The project's overall scope is to offer multi-faceted creative entrepreneurship opportunities to young artists and senior students in creative majors such as arts. It will introduce an effective social entrepreneurship training system, equipping the target group with tacit knowledge, critical thinking, and business-wise understanding of market opportunities.

The specific objectives of the action are to:

- Provide artists and creatives with effective and concrete tools to develop an enterprising approach, review, solve problems, plan, and scope their creative project.
- Support and guide artists and creatives to make their projects more sustainable by learning how to plan, assess, identify the state-of-art, and manage their “entrepreneurial” project.
- Update their professional competences and acquire management, business, and networking skills.
- Create and pilot tools and practical models to foster collaborations between the world of creativity and the world of business through the mutual exchange of professional skills and visions of artists and social entrepreneurs.

To achieve these aims, the consortium will design the following intellectual outputs:

- PR1 – Consultation with stakeholders and Resource Mapping - Creation of national reports on the training needs, challenges, and opportunities for social entrepreneurship among young artists. - Creation of an electronic repository with resources and good practices for young artists in social entrepreneurship training.
- PR2 – Social Entrepreneurship Educational Module for Young Artists - Creation of innovative pedagogical educational modules on social entrepreneurship.
- PR3 – E-learning platform with interactive map feature functionality (peer-to-peer mentoring) - Development of an online learning environment for entrepreneurial knowledge and skills acquisition, and a networking platform for young artists and prospective customers. - Teacher Educational Resources Component (learning material) - Blended online mentoring e-space (F2F and online) - Development of online channels (e.g., website, social network sites, e-newsletters) on the project's objectives and actions.
- PR4 – Development of modules to equivalent EQF/ECTS Standards - Development of certification of gained knowledge to equivalent EQF/ECTS standards - Creation of exam papers, reports, course outlines, and a study guide.
- PR5 – Design and implementation of Mentorship Program - Development of a transferability report for stakeholders to endorse and adopt mentoring practices. - Creation of a Mentorship guideline report for the implementation of an E-Mentor/Coaching system to facilitate Social Entrepreneurship training - Implementation of operational protocol for connecting mentors and mentees and defining connection duration – Sessions.

1.2 Partners

The Project Coordinator is the German-Italian Chamber of Commerce (Germany), in partnership with:

- Materahub (Italy)
- AKEP (Greece)
- CODECA (Cyprus)

ITALCAM – German-Italian Chamber of Commerce

The Italian-German Chamber of Commerce (ITALCAM) is a German no-profit association of industrial and commercial enterprises, professionals and traders who wish to work actively to develop economic relationships in Europe, especially between Italy and Germany. Active for more than 95 years on the territory, ITALCAM is also officially recognised by the Italian Government, as a strategic actor for the support in bilateral cooperation and for the assistance to entrepreneurs and SMEs. The Chamber promotes and supports the different phases of the internationalisation process, providing commercial assistance to German and Italian enterprises through its large international network. The aim is to develop initiatives to share experiences and best practices between Italian and German enterprises, local and public authorities.

Some of the most relevant fields of activity are:

- Business support & sustainable business development.
- Craft products and manufacturing activities.
- Green Logistics and Transport.
- Innovation and digitalisation.
- Promotion of food, wine, and tourism.
- Mechanics and Machinery

Moreover, ITALCAM develops services and projects focused on SMEs support, as main contractor or as a partner, acting as facilitator for the market uptake of new businesses as well as promoter of already well-established economic relations between Italy and Germany and in general enhancing the culture of entrepreneurship. Other fields of activities are the support of buyers and vendors before, during and after trade fairs and the promotion of food and tourism.

ITALCAM is a strong partner in several European Projects through all different programmes (Interreg, COSME, Erasmus+). Some of them ITALCAM is managing as lead partner, in others ITALCAM is responsible for the communication management.

Academy of Entrepreneurship®

The Academy of Entrepreneurship (AKEP) is a nonprofit organization founded in 2007 by the historical Educational Association of Athens “HFAISTOS”. It acts in collaboration with the Federation of Hellenic Associations of Young Entrepreneurs (OESYNE) and aims to contribute to the acquisition and development of entrepreneurship and professional competences for its beneficiaries: new and aspiring entrepreneurs, teachers and students in VET and Adult education, marginalized groups, and low skill adults. AKEP’s goal is to foster employability and improve instructional practices in education, to respond to the challenges of the labor market, raising also awareness about the importance of entrepreneurship education on national and European level.

Our Values

Civility: The progress must be collective to the society. When creating a project, we look for a way to improve our lives and our surrounding environment, and not only for the capital accumulation in the pockets of a few.

Cooperation: One of the bases of the entrepreneurial mind: if you can share it, do it, so we can build up faster, stronger, and more trustable projects, companies, and society.

Passion: Only doing what you love will allow you to create a project and make it successful. Many problems, obstacles and bad moments may come, and if you do not work at something you love, it will be easier to give up.

Our Vision: We believe in the social progress through the continuous contribution of active citizens, together with the cultivation and refinement of the essential entrepreneurial attitude, as every aspect in social life is interconnected. We are focused on providing individuals with practical knowledge that they can apply to their own ventures to become successful and achieve financial prosperity.

CODECA aspires to establish itself as one of the leading organisations in the provision of services and research in the Euro-Mediterranean region, in the areas of Social Welfare, Social Entrepreneurship and Education, utilising new innovative technological means to find solutions to address the various modern and complex challenges. Our trained and experienced team can offer high quality services to the benefit of the wider society through cooperation with various local, national, and international organisations, public and private bodies.

Special attention and focus are given on the:

- Provision of quality social welfare services to vulnerable social groups.
- Provision of services to asylum seekers and migrants.
- Promotion of social economy, social entrepreneurship, and sustainable development.
- Promotion of formal and non-formal youth and adult education.
- Promotion of Community planning and sustainable development.
- Wellbeing of NEETs, TCNs and other vulnerable groups.
- Supervision of social welfare professionals.

The aim and core activities of CODECA refer to the social inclusion of marginalized people or at-risk population. Currently it is the only provider of offering daily operation services to the First Reception Centre and Reception and Accommodation Centres in Cyprus, where different teams provide 24h services to different age groups and nationalities of migrants.

In addition, psychosocial support and empowering activities are provided to socially excluded groups, with emphasis to be given to families with adolescents and third-country nationals, asylum seekers and beneficiaries of international protection.

Also, voluntary services are provided to both adults and young people in the municipality where the organisation's central offices are located, aiming at empowering them to foster their participation and active engagement into work, education, and social inclusion in the local society.

Furthermore, clinical supervision is provided to several organizations and/or professionals to stimulate their daily practice.

- Having worked with the above groups, as well as the cumulated experience and expertise of the founders, the project's suggested activities reflect to the aims, goals, and activities of the organisation.

EYNCRIN is a large panEuropean youth network that seeks to deliver European and local youth work, which creates an enabling environment that is actively inclusive and socially engaging, creative and safe, fun, and serious, playful, and planned. A youth work that is accessible, open, and flexible. A youth work that promotes dialogue between young people and the rest of society and build bridges to support transition to adulthood and autonomy. Rural youth and development of rural European regions is among the core activities of the Network – developing and implementing participation mechanisms to boost interventions linked to improvements of young people’s livelihoods and developmental opportunities.

EYNCRIN grows to more than 33,500 members in 27 countries in Europe. The Network provides further support for local development, exchange of youth work practices, peer learning and the creation of sustainable partnerships. We stimulate cooperation within the youth sector and among sectors and fields of expertise wherever youth work takes place to reinforce ties, between formal education and youth work and between public authorities, the private sector and civil society. EYNCRIN seeks to strengthen the dialogue between youth work, youth policy and youth research.

- Creating an innovative and inclusive environment for young people to meet their needs and encourage their creative expression. Focus on disadvantaged young people from rural and remote areas, minority, and migrant communities, developing innovative programs to address their needs and their social inclusion.
- Promoting innovative approaches implemented by and for young people at all levels of public life, including education and information, the arts, media, business, and civic activity.
- Encouraging youth art and youth social entrepreneurship; promoting youth social activity and creativity to create innovative models of intercultural communication and social communication.
- Creating a sustainable model for partnership between youth groups, civic organizations, local authorities, and businesses to implement successful models for promoting youth creativity and innovation in Europe and at the local communities.

Irish creative training & innovative development center
- OUT of the BOX -

Irish Creative Training and Innovative Development Center (ICTIDC) is a Dublin-based training and consultancy centre with chapters in the Netherlands, Germany, and the UK.

Our staff are highly experienced staff in the areas of universal adult education and training, non-formal youth training, digital learning, career development, HR, and organizational development.

ICTIDC's mission is to build sustainable personal and organizational growth by integrating strategy development, innovation capabilities and new growth initiatives. The main goal of the ICTIDC is to support adults and young people in becoming life-long learners and independent, contributing European citizens.

Generally, ICTIDC provides innovative training and development programs in Ireland, Europe and globally that will contribute to local, regional, and global collaboration.

More specifically, our activities provide technologies and solutions that meet emerging public/private needs, enhance the human capital, and furthers the internationalization of Irish and European youth work, adult education, and research. We are dedicated to design and promotion of innovative training and outreach tools in the education of young people, tailor-made creative youth-targeted and adult training programs for business and NGOs, aiming at the inclusion of marginalized groups and individuals.

Our activities aim at furthering the generation, spread and transfer of knowledge and innovation in all sectors, thereby contributing to innovation in Ireland; support for teachers and adult learning providers to systematically integrate inclusive practices in their teaching; professional development opportunities for communities and organizations both locally and internationally. We put specific importance on quality skills development programs that reflect the changing needs of communities and local labour markets.

Due to the unprecedented repercussions of the COVID19 pandemic, ICTIDC has adapted to holding training and mentoring online. We are now able to share our experience on how we had to act fast and turn into a digital business. Proactive strategic flexibility has helped ICTIDC cope successfully.

2. Social Entrepreneurship 4 Arts COURSE

2.1 Modules

The general objective of the SE4A project is to serve as a pilot training program, enabling young European artists to acquire the necessary entrepreneurial (soft and hard skills), including competencies to market their work, manage finances, establish business collaborations, and introduce creative toolkits. These skills will enhance their entrepreneurial mindset through a unified online platform in a simple and comprehensive approach. The scope of the project is to offer multi-faceted social entrepreneurship opportunities, utilizing ICT technology to empower and increase the employability of the target group.

The project aims to introduce an effective social entrepreneurship training course, equipping the target group with tacit knowledge, qualities, and critical thinking to strengthen their autonomy, self-efficacy, self-confidence, and cognitive skills. Additionally, the course will provide explicit knowledge about the creative business market, trends, opportunities, and the operational functions of major public and semi-public institutions. The target group comprises young artists and senior students in creative art majors.

2.2 Learning Objectives

- Provide artists and creatives with effective and concrete tools to develop an enterprising approach, review, solve problems, plan, and scope their creative project.
- Support and guide artists and creatives to make their projects more sustainable by learning how to plan, assess, identify the state-of-art, and manage their “entrepreneurial” project.
- Update their professional competences and acquire management, business, and networking skills.
- Create and pilot tools and practical models to foster collaborations between the world of creativity and the world of business through the mutual exchange of professional skills and visions of artists and social entrepreneurs.

2.3 Guidelines for Participants

First, it is important to note and define the term of Participation: it refers to the ways trainees are engaged in the learning process.

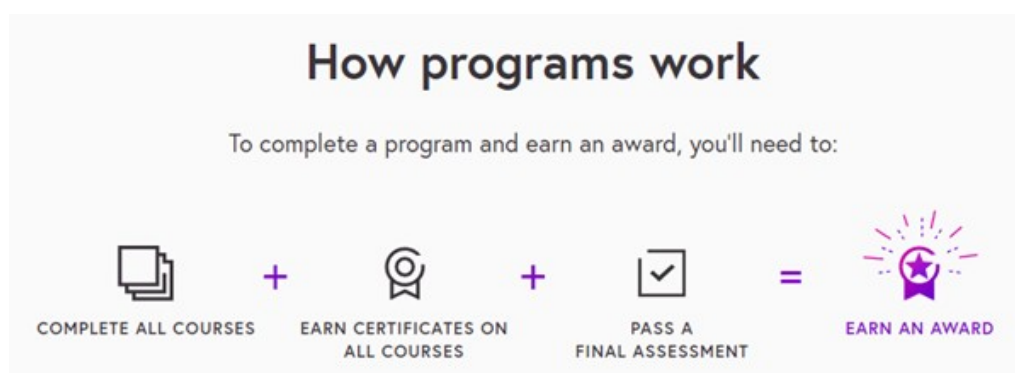

To be able to tackle with massive numbers of potential candidates who would like to join the modules, it was selected to offer a number of introductory courses on an e-learning format as the alternative way to actively engage or involve the student to help them to acquire skills that will empower young artists to become Creative Social Entrepreneurs, through the utilization of digital technology and tools, to boost their labour and economic capabilities, by gaining access and opportunities to reach their audience directly.

One of the greatest benefits of online learning is the multitude of ways to participate. Online courses are known as a great leveller, meaning that no matter who you are, male/female, younger/older, traditional/non-traditional student, etc. there are ways to participate based on your preferences and without the fears that can arise in face-to-face (F2F) classrooms and your ability to register and/to travel there.

Why register and participate online?

- You can get a qualification without having to take time off from work, go part-time or put your kids into childcare.
- You don't need to live near a particular educational institution.
- You can study from anywhere with an internet connection.
- You don't necessarily need to be sitting at a computer to study. You can read course materials and comment on forums from your tablet device or smart phone.

We invite you to register and carefully read each module. For each module there are also available additional resources as well as multimedia presentations, which will assist the students to gain experiential learning by engaging in various learning activities.

Each module was specifically designed to introduce an area as well as a soft skill for each participant to increase their abilities to be easier integrated into the local societies.
